One hundred dollars

Leonard James is a homeless man. For him, life is always hard. He is always hungry. His shoes have holes in them. He needs a haircut. His clothes are old and dirty. "What I would do with one hundred dollars!" Leonard says. This is a game he likes to play with himself. He is walking down the street on a Thursday night. It is January. The air is cold.

"With one hundred dollars, I could buy new shoes," he says. He continues to walk down the street.

"With one hundred dollars, I could get a haircut," he says. He continues to walk down the street.

"With one hundred dollars, I could get a hamburger," he says. He is really hungry now!

"With one hundred ..." Leonard looks down at the street. He cannot believe what he sees! Someone has lost his wallet. Leonard picks it up. Inside there are five twenty-dollar banknotes.

"One hundred dollars!" Leonard says. He is very happy. "Now I can buy what I want!" Leonard begins to think.

"But this is not my money," he says.

Leonard goes to the police station. He gives a policeman the wallet and money.

"Thank you," says the policeman. "You are a very good man."

Leonard smiles. He turns around and begins to leave the police station.

"Wait," the policeman says. He puts his hand in his pocket and gives Leonard ten dollars.
